CLOSED BATTLE LISTS (CBL)

In the present season closed army lists are established as officially valid for the ITS. Each Closed Battle List (CBL) possesses different versions of Army Lists, so the players can have options to choose the two Army Lists they are going to use in the tournament. If the players decide to participate in an ITS tournament with a Closed Battle List they must inform to the organizer which two CBL Army Lists they will play. Also, they can only play with Army Lists from that CBL.

At the beginning of the present season, the Blizzard-6, the first CBL of the ITS, was introduced. Now, due to the events you can read in Infinity Uprising, the time has come to meet the fearsome Yuándùn Division, a special corps from the Imperial Service possessing its own Closed Battle List.

THE YUÁNDÙN DIVISION

"The enemy does not show any respect for honor or rules. To protect the StateEmpire, we will do the same. We are the Emperor's shield."

The Yuándùn ("Shield") Division is a special task force of the Imperial Service created for contact operations and the suppression of high-risk threats. Known as "the butchers of Motobushima" for their cruel performance in the takeover of the city of Kuraimori during the Japanese Uprising, their infamous reputation precedes them wherever they are deployed, where they are feared and hated in equal measure.

Following the operations in Kuraimori, the Yuándùn Division has earned a well-deserved reputation in the StateEmpire Army as a task force specialized in hunting Japanese, a task that they conduct with particular joy and efficiency. As a unit that is "all or nothing," it is clear that members of this division will neither show mercy to Japanese forces nor expect it from them.

The members of the Yuándùn Division are selected from among the best troopers in the Imperial Service and from some State regiments, which provide the heavy tactical reinforcements that a light corps such as the Imperial Service often lacks. However, it takes a special kind of person to become a member of this division. Beyond combat abilities, Yuándùn Division members are all committed to fulfilling their duty to protect the StateEmpire, a duty that prevails over moral sense.

The purpose of this special body is to protect the StateEmpire from both internal and external enemies, using special methods and tactics, many of them of dubious morality. However, all the actions of this body are approved by the Emperor, the only authority to which they are accountable. The knowledge of being backed by the Emperor reinforces in them a sense of impunity and of importance in their mission. The Yuándùn Division goes to great lengths to safeguard the StateEmpire security, and there are neither lives nor rights that these corps are not willing to sacrifice to fulfill their duty.
